

Fistful of planets part II

the limited edition box “polysensorial experience”

Since long time I had in mind this idea of creating something that could connect music with the senses like smell, sight and touch: after a hard work and long time spent in designing, creating connection and researching Art expression, I gathered the elements that can create a real polysensorial experience!

I didn't want to just give you a CD...I wanted music to be part of something deeper, that can make you travel even if you're sitting in your room.

Destiny made this possible and a magic, esoteric triangle of women is born!

Hearing, smell, sight and touch and taste: all the five sense will be involved in this polysensorial experience. The box contains

- my album Fistful of planets part II (CD digipak)
- a special paper print that you can touch and watch during the listening of the music
- a bewitching perfume that you can spray on the paper print or anywhere you want to enter into the magic of a “time space ship”
- small pearls that will make your sense of taste work to recognize the flavors and hopefully awake memories of your life.

Touch, see, smell taste and listen...and fall into this new and special universe!

Purchasing this box you will support independent artist and you can help them to continue spread inspiration and messages in their own special way.

Especially in these hard times the human being needs Art and culture to open his mind and be free to think and to act. We need to awake our senses to don't fall into indifference, we need to be awake and ready to defend life and freedom of thoughts.

“So, try to find a meaning listening to my voice come on and wake up so that you can make a choice

So let's stop wasting life
we have to stop wasting life lose yourself, meet me at the border of your mind”

(from the song “wasting life”)
