

WINE TASTES BETTER
Words and music - Elisa Montaldo

Wine tastes better if I look at your eyes it gives my lips a place to hide and wine tastes good if I look at you Don't want to lose my mind I just want to be fine and walk in my high heels on Saturday night well, now I know I'm good - I'm not a liar, not a fool so come here close and whisper to my ear your biggest secret take my hand, so take my hand we're falling into the deep

Wine tastes better if I look at your eyes

Let's go to some old bar with the right jazz, the right stout and talk about movies, look at us we are the stars! while all the world around is changing mood too fast let's not lose the right path, it's just here in between the words we're afraid to tell so tease me, tease me, and pour me another glass of...

Wine tastes better if I look at your eyes it gives to my lips a place where to hide
and wine tastes good if I look at you
